A new way of living?

Since the beginning of the pandemic we've seen huge shifts in global and national markets, the real estate market arguably saw the biggest surge as people began to adapt to a new way of living and lockdown demand soared. A recent study by Savills and Money.co.uk revealed the search volume for houses with pools for sale increased by 49% and has consistently appeared as a key property feature on Savills website since the beginning of Covid-19. This makes home swimming pools one of the most desirable property features homebuyers find important when searching for a new home in the UK.

The period of the pandemic also saw an increase in people taking a renewed interest in exercise and finding new ways to keep healthy.

With health clubs and communal swimming pools being closed for so long, swimming became the top of the exercise wish list and with its multiple physical and mental health benefits it's easy to see why. As outside space became precious commodity and home improvement consumed the nation, the demand for at home, indoor swimming pools grew.

With Origin, the dream of having your own private swimming pool can become a reality. Their award winning designs have been delivered by a long-serving team of craftsmen and experts including architects, designers and engineers, many of whom have been with Origin from the start. Throughout their years in business, Origin have successfully completed thousands of pools and pool houses to a wide range of specifications, tailoring each one to fit the clients wants and needs. Whether for exercise and wellness or fun, an indoor swimming pool from Origin will have you swimming all year, even when autumn and winter are around the corner, it will be summer all year long.

Their experienced team of experts can also talk you through ways your swimming pool can be eco-friendly and run on renewable energy. Origin do it all, owning a swimming pool has never been easier nor has there been a better time. They manage the entire installation process from initial design to completion and beyond, eliminating the need for you to employ and manage separate companies for each element of the build and removing the potential risks and headache of liaising between separate trades. Origin take care of everything and keep you informed so you can relax, secure in the knowledge that their experts will all be working together to the same brief from the start. ■
